Precision Towers:

Powered By Financial Strength

It takes more than steel to build and deliver precision wind towers. The power of Korindo Wind also flows from the financial strength of our parent company.

Korindo Wind is a division of The Korindo Group, a strong multinational with decades of heavy manufacturing and precision logistics experience and expertise. We bring it all to bear in maximizing value for our wind energy customers. With Korindo behind us, we can put together pricing and logistics packages that other suppliers simply cannot match. We'll also be a long-term partner you can count on.

Precision Towers:
Powered By Efficiency

It takes more than steel to build and deliver precision wind towers. The power of Korindo Wind towers also flows from maximum efficiency.

The linear design of our tower manufacturing facility is the model of efficiency. Raw material comes in one end and finished sections go out the other with absolutely no time, effort or material wasted in between. For you, that means time and money saved.
